THEOREES CONFLICT AS TO FORMATION OF HAIL. There are areral theories respecting the fermation of hall. eave Pathinder Magazine. One is that the ballstones are formed by the freezing of raindrops as they fall through strata of colder air. No doubt some of the smaller tail is formed in this manner: Lot this does not adequately account for some of the larger bullstones. Examination shows that they are usually formed in concentric layers around a central nucleus formed of snow or fee.

It is supposed by some scientists that such ballstones are formed around at avilakes which are blown violently by a whirling wind between two layers of clouds of different temperature, Others believe the snownda starts in an opper cloud and falls through a number of clouds of varying temperature. turn cloud contributing its lay er of snow and los. Possibly chargeral attraction and repulsion have something to do with the formation of half, since hallstorms are closely associate of with the decetorns. Iguassu Falls One of Wonders of the World The Ignasen falls of Brazil are said to be the most wonderful in the world. In the Wide World Magazine R. Hallfurtion writes: "Half a mile away a vast mass of water seemed to flow forth from the sky. It was a river, which, after wandering quietly through the forests of Brazil, had come at ' length to the edge of a g cat plateau. There it girds itself for a grand ellmax to its career—a elimax so spectae. plar that no one who sees can ever forget that this river surpasses all others in the sublime beauty of its passing, leaving behind one of the wonders of the world. With one mighty charge along a front 10 000 feet in length it hurls over the brink, in superb 200 foot cataracts of form. Niagara may have greater volume Victoria greater height, but for artistry and coloring Iguassu stands alone."

THY WORD IS TRUTH Many a man fails to become Christian and remains out of the church ecause preachers fall to agree and because the church is split a hundred ways. The solution of the problem lies in the Bible and in your own Mrs. D. R. Cole visited with her brain. "Let no man deceive you with daughter. Mrs. William Morgan at vain words," says Paul. "Thy Word is truth," cries the Psalmist. Listen to the preacher, then read your Pible and "see if these things be so." The final authority on the Christian religion is the Word of God. Your opinion may be no better than mine. Christianity ter of truth. The Bible is the source of that truth. It is your only safe guide. Direct your steps through life by the light you there shall find and as you there shall find it you will not miss the way.

JANE BYRD turned her long-nosed ear into the drivewny leading to the Country club. Golfers dotted the green. Beight buthing suits showed clearly against the cool blue water in the swimming pool. On the veranda sat June's father, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyborne, Jimmy's parents.

"Immy must be here then. was going to drive them over in his car," she thought, as she slowed to a stop, seaming the groups here and there for the tall, handsome Jimmy. "Looking for Jimmy?" a blond young man called.

"Is he here?" Jane asked, powder-

"Thanks for the information. I'll locate this Bernice person." Jane laughed for the benefit of the observing young man, and stepped out on the gravel driveway.

Wild Life in France There has been constituted in the south of France a national reserve for wild life which, in some ways, is the most picturesque natural home for bird and heast to be found in Europe. It is situated on the Camargue, the island famous in old French listory and legend and well known to visitors to Arles in Provence. Really the delta of the River Rhone, entirely formed by alluvial deposits, it is in great part a savage region of marsh and prairie. The Societe Nationale d'Acclimatation, which has charge of the reserve, protects about 50,000 acres as tenant, and it is proposed to increase the area ultimately to 100,000 acres. Even after a relatively short experience, however, it has been observed that the migratory birds of many species which have always used the island as a landing station are increasing in numbers. For many it is the last hopping-off place for Africa. Zesides every sort of wild duck in immeasurable numbers-storks, herons and egrets-there are many rare birds which cannot be seen elsewhere in Europe. Perhaps the most ustonishing are the pink flamingoes, which are to be found in flocks of 3,000 or 4,000 together.

Little-Known Men Who

Are Worthy of Honor It is suggested that a statue be erected to the memory of the man who first introduced the orange to Great Britain. Japan already has a statue to its first orange bringer. France has put up a statue to Marie Harel, the inventor of Camembert cheese, and Offenburg, in Germany bonsts a statue to Sir Francis Druke for bringing the potnto from the New world to the Old. But nobody knows who brought the oranges to Britain. They came from Spain about the year 1200, but beyond that there is no record. The first man to import pranges in quantity was Benjamin Bovill, a London fruit broker, the centenary of whose death recently occurred. The man who first brought bananas to Britain is just as worthy of a statue as anyone connected with oranges. Worthlest, perhaps, of any is Sir Richard Weston, who flourished in the reign of Charles I. Though very few people have heard of him it was be who introduced turnips, clover and other sown grasses into Britain and so laid the foundation of modern agriculture.--London Mail.

Blinds Not "Venetian" Venetian blinds, now becoming popular in America, are not, and never

"While the roller shade is purely an nearly 300 years to the West Indies," the article says. "The blinds now in use are quite similar, but with added improvements. Apparently there is no authoritative information as to why they are called venetian. Careful research shows that they were not seen in Venice until many years after they had been in use elsewhere. It has been suggested, however, that they may have been invented by a Venetian trader making his home in the West Indies and named in his honor."

The Three of Them The following incident is reported by Mrs. A. M. G.:

"A little five-year-old girl was added to my class last Sunday, and when the Indy who brought her introduced her to me she said: 'She was born in Egypt.

"I thought no more about it, and when class work began, I told the little tots about Moses. The little newcomer said she had heard about Moses; and then, to interest her, I said, 'Moses was a Jew, but he was born in Egypt."

"'Yes,' exclaimed the new child, 'all three of us were born in Egypt; my sister, and I, and Moses."—Kansas City Star.

Make Life a Battle

Young people like to be doing things. A keen student of youth has said that the average young person gets a far greater thrill out of hewing his own pathway through the world than in rolling along in a luxurious car over n rondway that other hands have propared. But, after all, no one can wholly remove from us all responsibility or fight all our battles for us. Nobody has a right to find life uninteresting or unrewarding who sees within the sphere of his own activity a wrong he can help to remedy, or within himself an evil he can hope to evercome.-Mostreal Family Herald.

Says New Bulldings Ungodly "There is a saying that God made the country and the devil made the towns," sald Sir Thomas Comyn-Platt in an address before the council for the Preservation of Rural England, in London recently, "When I walk in London and see the buildings they are greeting I can quite believe they are not the work of the Almighty. England owes everything to the country."

Health in Economy In order to determine the effect of a special diet, nine young women, students at the Washington Missionary college, lived four weeks on food costing 25 cents a day aplace. At the end of the period physicians pronounced thous fitter, fatter and faires

Governors' Conferences The factors which brought about the establishment of the governors' conference were the growing centralization of power at Washington, the shifting, uncertain status of state's rights, and the lack of uniform laws. The first meeting was held at the White House in 1908, It was called by President Roesevelt, and the prin cipal subject considered was the conservation of natural resources. The functions of the governors' confer ence are officially declared to be: Exchange of views and experiences on subjects of general importance to the people of the several states, the promotion of greater uniformity in state legislation, and the attainment of greater efficiency in state administra-

Contractor's Luck

One Nevada contractor now believes in the old saying, "Gold is where you find it." He took a job for removing old timbers from an abandoned mine; the work proved more difficult than expected and it appeared he was going to lose money on the contract. Removing a section of logging from an old drift, two sacks of ore tumbled out, apparently concealed there by a "high-grader" in the boom days. The ore was some of the richest found in the region and the contractor says his contract turned out to be one of the most profitable he ever had.

Sunshine All Day

At Alx-les-Bains there is to be seen a strange-looking building which has somewhat the appearance of a rather substantially constructed pagoda with an airplane perched upon its top. It is a scheme for the benefit of invalids who visit the place for its health-restoring qualities. The upper part of the building revolves in order that the persons in it may secure the greatest possible amount of sunshine. If the sun shines, the invilids occupying the rooms are enabled to get the benefit of its rays for the eatire day.

Flares Keep Off Poachers At the fish hatcheries of the West "mother" fish, kent in the rearing ponds are caught and stripped of their eggs during spawning senson. The eggs, millions of them, are placed in glass jars, about 8,000 to the quart. and water at an even temperature runs through these constantly for from 90 to 120 days. The infant fish are returned to the pools and carefully reared to planting size. The pools are watched night and day, often by "bomb" or flare lights, to guard against ponchers and to attract insects.

No Time to Waste The Insurance office was rung up "I want to insure my house," she said. "Can I do It over the 'phone?" "I'm afraid not, Perhaps we'd bet-

Attitude Toward Time

All That Really Count Time is passing so quickly the there is need for us to push on wh the job we have in hand. We must to think that time passes more quick at one time than another. It more always at the same rate. Our attling to it is the thing that counts. It to are busy, if we are happily concerns in the affairs of life, we do not nonthe passing of time. It is then we go that it nasses quickly. When we an hored and discontented and gloom

we think that time hangs heavily upon our hands. And it does, The right attitude to the matter of time should be something differen Time, and therefore experience, nue come and go. Are we being intelliged enough to utilize every second of the in the hest possible way, and are re directing our lives to the fullest poss ble advantage as a result of the er perience? If we are not, we are my pushing on. Valuable days are pass ing, and people are suffering; some physically, some mentally; many h hoth ways. There is no time to lose If we are economists of time and e fort, as we should be, there is need for a closer and a more intelligent understanding and grasp of our jobs not only our personal task, but the business of caring for others.

We must push on. There must be no faintheartedness. If we would lead there must be courage and determins tion.—Exchange.

> NVESTIGATION was ordered by Secretary of Commerce Lamont into charges made by Dr. Ray O. Hall that he had been dismissed from the department for protesting against faisification of the recently issued report on the "balance of international payments." Hall, who prepared most of of the report, alleged figures were juggled and deletions made to suit "political expediency." He said particularly that a comment to the effect that impending tariff legislation possibly was in part responsible for merchandise imports holding up relatively well during the first half of the fiscal year 1930 had been omitted in the publica-

The point he had endeavored to bring out and which, he said, was omitted, was that, in anticipation of higher tariff rates later, foreign shippers had sent greater quantities of goods to this country during the first part of the fiscal year than otherwise would have been the case.

RAILWAY officials, shippers and other interested persons gathered in Washington for the hearings before the Interstate Commerce commission the railroads for an cent in rates on all

one of the biggest Ezra Brainerd. questions that Chairman Ezra Brainerd,

Jr., and his fellow commissioners have had to handle for some time. There was no disposition to question the fact that the railroads are in a sad financial plight. The problem is to find the remedy. In the first five months of this year the class one rallroads had a net railway operating Income of $188.387,587, or 2.10 per cent on their property investment, and 14 of the 171 roads operated at a loss, of which 14 were in the eastern, 6 in the southern, and 24 in the western district. Conforming to the wish of Presi-

d at Hoover, that existing wage scales be maintained, the roads are seeking an increase of revenue in inerensed rates, but their executives have made it plain that if this is not granted, wages will have to come down. Many shippers have let the commission know that they favor the latter alternative, asserting that they cannot bear higher transportation charges. President Hoover has taken no part in the controversy, but Secretary of Agriculture Hyde has publicly asked the commission to take into consideration the fact that while the revenue of the railroads dropped 16 per cent last year, the revenue of the farmers dropped 20 per cent; that farm prices are down to pre-war levels, while freight rates are relatively high; that with many products taxes, manufacturing costs, and rallroad rates can be passed on to the consumere, but that the farmer cannot pass his costs on. Two security holders' committees appeared before the commission to set forth the danger that many millions of dollars of rail securities may become ineligible for life insurance, savings bank and other investment unless the freight rate increase is granted. One of the committee represented life insurance and savings bank Interests and the other trust and are insurance companies and in-

FROM the White House came an official reply to the attacks on the tariff commission that have been made by Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas and other Democratic leaders. The statement represented the tariff commission as a most industrious body which had completed investigations of 110 different articles under the flexible provisions of the tariff net and has investigations of 110 articles still under consideration. In 22 investigations completed and reported to the President, it was pointed out that on only 10 of the 40 articles involved had there been an increase proclaimed. On 12 articles the duty was cut. On 20 there was no change on 4 others there were no change. It was also explained that in addition to its duties under the flexible clause, the commission had been called on by congress for reports on 10 subjects, four of which have been completed. On its own initiative the commission undertook and consteted an investigation of leaf tobacco.

"he cases brought before the commission are being handled expeditionsly," the White House statement declared. "The tables presented barewith reveal that the council sich is disposing of the cases at a rate of and mer week."

It is true that at present boys enter the university at un age when, over a long period, they would have been ready to leave. John Milton had only just passed his fifteenth birthday when he went up from St. Paul's school to Cambridge, and he was nineteen when he took his brothe to visit his brother Wesley in Hartelor degree. Sir John Denham was Irod. sent to Oxford at sixteen, though he seems to have beliated himself there very much after the fashion of some young fellows who have matriculated at a later age, for the future poet is described as a "dreaming young mou. given more to dire and cards than study." But even lifteen or sixteen. which seems very early to us, would have seemed very inte to the authorlties of an earlier age, when "thousands of boys, haddled in bare four ing houses, clustering round teachers as poor as them: elves, in church porch and house porch" took the place of the brightly colored train of doctors and hends." It was in those days that scholars like "Edmund Rich, archbishop of Canterbury and saint in later days, came to Oxford, a boy of twelve years." The most ardent advorates of change would scarcely advise a return to those days.—Man-

Road Versus Rail

It is now many years since the expresses of the rallway companies running England to Scotland services used to race against each other, and there is today very little "sporting interest" in connection with trains. On the continent, a new form of milway racing was growing up some time ago, touring cars belog run against expresses. This read versus rall racing In the discouraged in Europe. However it is catching on so much in New Zealand that a recent race be-tween a car and the Wellington to Auckland train was broadcast throughout the country. The mee took place at night and, despite the handless of had and very hilly reads, the ear wen lor half on liver
